

Passage:

Samantha is a passionate cook who loves spending time in the kitchen. Every weekend, she dedicates her afternoons to trying out new recipes and experimenting with different ingredients. Recently, she decided to take a cooking class to improve her skills. In the class, she learned various cooking techniques and the importance of presentation.

Samantha enjoys baking desserts, and she loves to challenge herself by creating intricate cakes and pastries. She believes that cooking is not only a useful skill but also a great way to express creativity. Her friends often encourage her to keep trying new things and to share her meals with them. They tell her that she should consider hosting dinner parties more often, as everyone loves her cooking.

After completing the cooking class, Samantha felt more confident in her abilities. She often thinks about opening a small restaurant one day, where she can showcase her culinary talents. For now, she is happy sharing her meals with friends and family, who always praise her efforts.

Cooking is not just a hobby for Samantha; it's a passion that brings people together. She knows that the joy of preparing a meal and sharing it with others is one of life's greatest pleasures.

Comprehension Questions:

1. What does Samantha enjoy doing on weekends?
2. Why did she decide to take a cooking class?
3. What does she learn about in her cooking class?
4. How do Samantha's friends respond to her cooking?
5. What dreams does Samantha have for her future in cooking?